Means-Plus-Function Language in the Claims

The instant claims contain the following terms, written in “means-plus-function” language, and have been interpreted as follows:

1. “means for driving said at least one wire movement”, defined in the specification at page 8 as any conventional (normal) driving means and has therefore not been accorded any special means plus function status.

2. “means for ejecting pressurized gas bubbles into said cooling liquid”, defined in the specification at page 8 as air-supply conduits connected to couplings and a distribution conduit with fan.

3. “means for adjusting a number of successive cooling liquid curtains”, defined in the specification at page 8 as closure valve.

4. “deflector means”, defined in the specification on page 9 as a cover with deflectors.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1, 3, 4, 6 to 9, 11 and 12 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The method of patenting at least one steel wire and the device for implementing the method, as recited by the claims, are not taught or fairly suggested by the art of record for the reasons set forth in Applicant's arguments dated October 22, 2007.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
